CHESS AUCTION SET FOR THE NORTH DAKOTA OPEN, OCTOBER '88

Ron Schauer has set a chess auction, scheduled during the annual ND Open in Fargo. (During the ND Closed, a planned auction of items turned into an informal sale, netting $42.00 to the NDCA activities!) The chess auction will display all donated items like chess sets, books, Popel memorabilia, clocks, chess articles, etc.

All donated chess items are welcome. All revenue will go to the North Dakota Chess Association, for tournaments and operating expenses.

If you have anything to donate, or would like a list of items that will be sold, call or write to Ron Schauer, P.O. Box 931, Bismarck ND 58502 (Ph: 223-5807.)

'88 ND Postal Chess Update - After 5 months of action, Clifford Berger has jumped to a 3-0 score against his rivals. (Berger was the '86 postal champion.) It is still too early to declare a winner however. Defending the title is Michael Sprague, who has 1½ with 3 games to go. The other final combatants are Silvano Bentzel who recently drew with Sprague, & LaMoyne Splichal with all six games in progress. Good luck!!

June "88" Tornado

6-18-1988 TD: Dale Sailer
@ Northwest Bank Community Room, TL: 25/1, 25/1.
Gateway Branch Bldg., Bismarck, ND USCF Rated.

The June Tornado in Bismarck could have been called the Minot Invitational, as 5 Minot chessplayers were among the 9 participants. There were also 3 upsets in the first round, including Crouse over Case, Bentzel over Splichal, and Johnson beat Hernandez in an adjourned game. In the 3rd round, Hernandez upset Mike Sailer. The end result was a tournament that saw 4 players tie for 1st with 2 points each. It is too bad that Minot can't find an organizer to put on chess tournaments, as they have some of the more active players in the state!

Greetings to the Members of the North Dakota Chess Association. A new chess season bears up, and the focus on improving chess in North Dakota continues. In this letter, I would like to start by congratulating Ron Schauer on the most recent term he has served as the leader of the NDCA. Ron is an outstanding contributor to the chess scene in many ways, and his involvement in NDCA government is not the least of them. As president-elect, I had the chance to witness Ron's ability as an arbiter and as a leader to a greater degreee than ever before, and it is clear to me that as much as we all appreciate the job he has done, we do not appreciate it enough. His fine job as President of the NDCA deserves the highest applause, and the sincerest thanks.

Secondly, I would like to extend similar regards to LaMoine Splichal who has served quietly, ably, and outstandingly for many years. Running a state organization and keeping things going requires a lot of work, and LaMoine has done more of that than most of the rest of us put together. He is clearly the single greatest contributor to the organization, in terms of getting things done, and that makes him an irreplaceable commodity. Again the highest applause and sincerest thanks!!

In looking ahead to the future of the NDCA, it is important to identify our goals and to establish a framework under which they will be achieved. The goals are quite simple: A) Get more people involved in chess in this state, from all angles of the sport; B) Put on more events with better quality in terms of attendance, participation, prizes, etc.; C) Give chess a higher profile in the public eye, and a profile that is positive.

In order to achieve these goals, it is necessary to get to work and get things done. I think for starters, we need better organization. Events are scheduled haphazardly and are handled as the responsibility of a given director with nobody else getting involved. And there is no cross organization of directors in getting this done. It is my belief that all events should be lined up at the start of the year and they should be spaced out with dates and specifics set by the 1st of September, instead of their getting done when and if the time is available. There should be less effort at providing more events and more effort at making the events we have better. There should be some sort of organized separation between state level events and local club events. There should be more local club activity and the state events should be the highlights of the chess season in the state. This of course requires more clubs and more active clubs. But it would also help if there were more chess simul's and exhibitions. I understand that Ron Schauer and Jerry Triggs and working on an exhibition in July at the Gateway Mall, here in Bismarck, and that is an example of what I mean. Furthermore the chess season should beorganized with a period of no actual tourneys so all players have a scheduled opportunity to relax and wind down so as to avoid burnout. It is because of this ideal and the lack of time that I have discontinued my efforts in regard to the PAWN WARS.

Furthermore, people have to get involved and leaders have to lead. At the most recent state meeting, it was made clear that this is going to be very difficult indeed. Witness the response to my suggestion of car wash fundraisers. No organization can survive if the only interest is the focus of the organization and if everybody is to lazy to do any work, even on that. And I do mean LAZY. I could use other words but they are unprintable. Those of us who do the work do it for ourselves and our ideals. We do not do it for the lazy cusses who won't help. Take a lesson from the little red hen...or else!!!! Not for me or the organization but for yourselves. If you won't help, there will be nothing to help, and I do mean nothing. If you don't like my ideas, that is fine. But get off your lazy duffs, put together your ideas and start doing something. You benefit, You should contrabute!! TANSTAAFL. There ain't any such thing as a free lunch. All directors are urged to write me with ideas and events and lets get together and get it done!!!!

1987 ND Grand Prix Winners

Jerry Triggs won the annual contest, edging Rick Case who was the runnerup, and Mike Sailer the 3rd place finisher. Prizes are to be distributed in the coming months. Triggs won a master quartz chess clock, Case opted for $35, and Sailer a $15 USCF gift certificate. Final standings of all players will be in Oct. '88 NDCA Newsletter. NORTH DAKOTA CHESS HALL OF FAME
Stephan Popel 1983	Olev Kraav 1987	Abe Thompson 1987	Somner Sorenson 1988

EDITORIALLY SPEAKING

One chess season is over, and as the summer passes, another draws near to high gear. Since the last issue of the newsletter went to press, we have had the scholastic and the state championships, but the only other action was a tourney in June, put on by Dale Sailer, and Sonnor Sorenson's Dragon Variations in May. The lull in activity is good so that all can catch their wind and relax before another assault on the rating slopes.

In looking back at the recent activity, it is good to see the growth in caliber of the youth of this state. The Scholastic and the Closed provided some outstanding examples from such players as Ken Dahme and Jennie Bitz, of Bismarck Grimstrup, Kipp Sparrow and Mystel Evanger of McCluskey, Mike Sailer of Bismarck, Zane Stearns, of Dickinson, Chris Lindseth, of Rugby, Ken Adams, of Jamestown, and as well, the surprisingly strong performance of four West Fargo players, Joel Sauve, Kevin Hakanson, Robert Ehlbeck, and Paul Humphrey. And these were not the only potential stars to shine. An interesting mix of outstanding play and hard lessons was witnessed for all involved. One could not help but feel the disappointment of Kipp Sparrow over a sad loss in the last round of the closed, but I think Kipp learned several valuable lessons that will stand him in good stead in the future. And as a personal note to him, I might remind him of the great game I played in the 4th round of the closed, against Cam Starr of Fargo, only to have it vanish on a single HASTY move. As perhaps Kipp gained some degree of satisfaction in knowing he wasn't alone, so to did I gain some satisfaction in learning that Cam Starr lost one at the Dragon Variations a few weeks later, that was very similar to the one I gave him. but even so, the knowledge was salted with commiseration for a great friend who in defeating me, never-the-less demonstrated the utmost in sportsmanship. Cam Starr is known to all of us as one of the great gentlemen of the game in this state, and I will be eternally grateful for the manner in which he downplayed my blunder and complimented my play in the rest of the game. Cam understands that in Chess, the thing isn't the winning but the competition and that it the tough times that make the good times so valuable. ~~valuable~~ Mike Sailer who has had some tough losses enroute to becoming an expert. We are all proud of the fact that in the most recent ratings supplement, he was listed as among the top 25 in the entire nation. Chess, like life, is a mix of successes and failures. Sooner or later, we all must suffer, and sooner or later, we will all get to celebrate.

I wish to take this opportunity to wish one and all a fruitful career ahead and may we not be disappointed in our failures but rather proud of everyone's successes. Out own as well as those of others. Feel the spirit. Give Chess a Boost!!

Joe Dagnec,
Editor, NDCA NEWS

P.S. Special congratulations to Mike Sailer on his achievement of being among the top 25 in the nation in his age group.

Minutes of the North Dakota Chess Association Meeting - April 23, 1988

Proceedings were opened with the usual greeting of the North Dakota Chess Association to order. It then proceeded to thank Ron Gagner, for his valuable work as chief editor of the NDCA Newsletter. Ron thanked LaMoynne Splichal also, for his efforts as our Secretary-Treasurer. Also noted was Jerry Triggs, who has kept the Central Dakota Chess Club alive.

Pres. Schauer then handed the meeting agenda to Pres. Elect Joe Gagner who immediately became Vice President. The reading of the 1987 NDCA annual financial statement was then done. When this was done it was May 1st, NDCA funds, 188.40, were left. Before the 1987 Closed, NDCA had $300.10 in the treasury, and 77 paid-up members. Both figures should be higher in order to meet our chess needs in the state. Due to lack of renewals and some chess leaders leaving the state, we do need more funds & players.

A motion was made by Ron Schauer, seconded by Al Adams, then passed by the membership, to award $100 to Mike Sauer for his trip to Boston. He will represent North Dakota in the National High School Tournament of Champions, Aug. 5-12, in conjunction with the U.S. Open.

The membership of the NDCA voted & passed a constitutional change: the office of President Elect will return effective immediately to become Vice President. Members felt the office did not work as originally thought when passed, binding the officer to a "2 year commitment". All 3 major offices conclude on 1 year terms, with officers open to a re-election bid.

Electionist LaMoynne Splichal was nominated, and re-elected to another term as Secretary-Treasurer. - Rick Case and Dave Lindseth were both nominated for the Vice Presidency. Rick Case was then elected, 12-5, to be the NDCA Vice President. (Pres. Gagner will appoint the regional representatives.) Congratulations were expressed to the officers.

Ron Schauer proposed a 10% tourney "tax" for 1 year, effective after the ND Closed, as a way to bring in some funding to NDCA. After some discussion, the NDCA membership approved the motion. - The members also decided to keep dues at $5 a year for adults, $3 for juniors, to NDCA.

Joe Gagner introduced organizing car washes as a fundraiser idea. We discussed the the possibility for a future date. There was mixed reaction, however, Joe said car washes could work & produce funds for us.

An idea for a postage meter (bulk rates, etc.) was discussed. With NDCA membership averaging a low 75 players yearly, it was thought unfeasible at the time...

Ron Schauer noted he will look into grants, and charitable gaming funds for our state chess chapter, in the coming months... Members were asked to think & plan of other fundraising ideas, too.

Hall of Fame: Joe Gagner nominated the name of Somner Sorenson, with Jerry Triggs seconding the motion, to be inducted to the North Dakota Chess Hall of Fame. Joe gave a brief summation of Somner Sorenson's efforts concerning chess in the state, especially the Fargo-Moorhead area. By a unanimous vote of the present membership, Somner Sorenson was elected to the North Dakota Chess Hall of Fame!

We discussed that more effort by clubs should be made to get players together. You can advertise free in most Chamber of Commerce publications where you meet weekly. Also your local newspaper has free notices showing community events, etc.

The ND Scholastic is our best success, doing relatively well to bring in young chess players. However, we must continue the process, follow up the progress of the students. We need more volunteers to teach chess in the schools. Steve Lengenfelder stressed we should not overlook the secondary (jr. & sr. high) schools. In past years our attendance in the elementary section has been outstanding, but the top sections are poor... Doris Fischer, McClusky teacher/chess advisor noted we should look for improvement to keep in touch with the scholastic players.

Pres. Gagner appointed the following to the Scholastic committee: LaMoynne Splichal, Ron Schauer, Dale Sauer, Terry Ness, as well as himself. Contest winners in the '87 ND Grand Prix will receive their respective prizes. At this date, funds were not available, but members felt that the players should receive awards at a future date. - An '88 ND Grand Prix, whatever format, is not set at this time, noted Pres. Gagner.

Marv Johnson moved that the '88 NDCA meeting close, Rick Case did second the motion. The membership was in favor, then Pres. Joe Gagner formally closed the meeting.

Respectfully Submitted, LaMoynne Splichal NDCA Secretary Treasurer.

N.D. chess champion says he plays little

FARGO, ND. (AP) — North Dakota's reigning chess champion, who has won the state title four times, says the demands of school and two part-time jobs rarely leave him with time to play anymore.

"I've definitely lost a lot of the fervor I once had," said Stephen Turmo, a North Dakota State University senior majoring in computer science.

"I used to read chess books quite a bit when I was little, but now I have other books to read."

Stephen Turno's father, Andrew, taught him to play chess in 1969, when Stephen was 11 years old.

"My father taught me, but it wasn't too long before I beat him quite a bit, and we quit playing," Stephen Turmo said. Their last match was in a tournament seven or eight years ago, and the younger Turmo won, he said.

Turmo first took a serious interest in chess in 1972, when American Bobby Fischer challenged and eventually defeated Soviet world chess champion Boris Spassky. "At that time, the whole United States went chess crazy," Turmo said.

Turmo has a rating of 2105, which ranks him as an expert, according to the United States Chess Federation. A player must have

master player, the highest being grand master.

Players increase their ratings by defeating someone of equal or greater rank, and it would be difficult for him to boost his standing in North Dakota, Tummo said.

"Sometimes the higher you get, the harder it gets," Turmo said. "When you are rated high, everybody knows."

Asked how he keeps in practice, Turmo replied, "I don't. I will, once in a while, crack open a chess book and skim over it. I'll maybe play over some of the more interesting games."

Despite his lack of activity, Turmo won the North Dakota Chess Association's state tournament in Bismarck in April. The title, his fourth, was his second in a row; he was undefeated in five one-game matches.

Turner says he's discovered another hobby that can be as challenging as chess.

"I like politics and philosophy mainly arguing about them," Turner said. "I like that better than chess, but, of course, there is no objective to win. I guess if the other guy takes a swing at you, you've won."

Chess Chat... by LaMoyne Splichal

- Hopefully many of you are enjoying this hot summer in the shade, and finding time for some chess games. There isn't much tournament action, mostly casual chess games, postal chess, and some studying??!
- If you felt this newsletter was late, it was! I missed the news deadline by 3 weeks, a royal foul-up on my part. Have a 1001 excuses, none too good to print. My apologies to Joe, our chief editor, and to all subscribers. Back on track now, knock on wood!
- Thanks again goes out to Joe Gagner for his outstanding efforts as our newsletter editor! With his time commitments he does a good job, don't forget to thank him, by continuing to send in newsletter material.
- 1988 ND Scholastic was attended by 85 students, a decrease of 17 from last year's event. The good news is 63 students competed in the elementary division, a record in the 1980s! - There was good games at the scholastic along with the bizarre to make an entertaining weekend.
- There are many thank yous after a tournament like a ND Scholastic. Here are a few: Terry Ness for being chief organizer, LaMoyne Splichal for directing the elementary section & the aftermath tmt. paperwork, Dale Sailer for directing the junior high section, Joe Gagner for his directing the senior high section, Ron Schauer for assisting the elementary & playing another Saturday night simul, to the Optimist Club of Bismarck for their $100 generous donation, thanks to the Doublewood Ramada Inn staff for their kind service & great rooms, to our unnamed assistants behind the scenes, and to the dedicated teachers, parents, chaperones, fans who attended the 1988 ND Scholastic!!!
- Congratulations again to all the winners of the ND Scholastic, and the ND Closed. Hey, you all have a state title or two to carry for a year!
- You may note that awards were low at the '88 ND Closed compared to '87, our largest prize fund ever. Simply stated, our turnout was low, 9 out of the 34 players had free entries won, and we paid our fine tournament director true, real $$$ compensation! There are advantages and some not so sweet to the players. Granted in '89 other chess avenues will be taken (i.e., unpaid workers, and donations from outside sources). All I can say the tournament was worth the hassle, which provided pure pleasure to many! On a personal note, I got to actually play in the championship event, instead of shuffling pairing cards, and I loved it!
- If you find any technical errors in the issue, please inform Joe or me about them. Great pains were made on crosstables, etc., for correct news info. Sometimes a typo may have slipped in!
- Finally, please circle your '89 calendar, as we already have secured the Bismarck Doublewood Ramada Inn, for next year's chess championships. Because of ND Centennial activities, a nationwide bowling tourney in the city, & other events, tournament sites were very tight. Motels were already blocked off for lodging by the local convention bureau! We did some quick hunting for sites, and came back to Ramada for the best deal anyone could want!! Reserve your motel rooms now, March 11-12 for the ND Scholastic, April 1-2 for the ND Closed, plan to play, no excuses!
- Soon it will be time for a full chess season, after this hot summer. Take care, chess friends!
